Who We Are

Our Purpose Statement

Our purpose is to partner with employees, clients and the community to create opportunities for growth and mutual success.

In 1969, a gallon of gas cost 35 cents, Richard Milhous Nixon was in the first year of his presidency and Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid was the number one movie at the box office.

1969 was also the year a small staffing firm called Intermountain Staffing was formed to help businesses connect with great workers.

A lot has changed since 1969, and Intermountain Staffing has since grown into Ascend Staffing, serving a national market. We have expanded our services and broadened our reach. And though times have changed and we have grown, one thing has never changed: Our commitment to providing staffing solutions that make businesses and individuals productive and successful.
